

Evan Thoresen – Eagle Scout Project 2013

My project included repairing the walkway in front of the Church of the Reformation, which is located on East Capitol Street. I initially came up with the idea of repairing the stone walkway after witnessing many churchgoers, particularly older members, having trouble walking to the entrance of the church due to the uneven stones. I, along with several other scouts, began the project by identifying uneven and loose stones within the walkway that needed the most work. Over the following several weekends we used cement to fill holes in the walkway and re-cemented loose stones. Many church members appreciated the work that our team did and saw it as very beneficial for the entire community since many local events are held at the church.
